Our Gospel this weekend contains one of the most familiar stories in the Bible yet it also invokes a lot of questions. Who was the woman and what happened to her after this story? Where is her adulterous partner? What was Jesus writing in the sand? And so on. There are many suggested answers and it’s easy to get caught up in the speculation, but we should make that secondary to the true message in this reading. In fact, that same message is included in all of our readings this weekend.

Consider these key verses from each of our readings. First from Isaiah, “Remember not the events of the past, the things of long ago consider not; see, I am doing something new! Now it springs forth, do you not perceive it?” Next from St. Paul, “Forgetting what lies behind but straining forward to what lies ahead, I continue my pursuit toward the goal, the prize of God’s upward calling, in Christ Jesus.” And finally, from the Gospel, these words from Christ to the woman caught in adultery, “Neither do I condemn you. Go, and from now on do not sin anymore.” A theme emerges from these verses; when we turn to God for forgiveness, He is indeed gracious and merciful. So much so, that He will forgive our sins without condemnation and will make us completely new creations in Christ.

Two final points. First, Jesus’ forgiveness and mercy shown in the Gospel is unconditional. Is ours the same or due we forgive with conditions and show mercy with strings attached? Second, what about that well-known maxim paraphrased from the Gospel, “Let the one without sin throw the first stone.” How many times have we thrown a stone (made a judgement or a comment) about someone even though we may have the same fault? Stewardship calls us to show the same kind of love shown by Jesus in the Gospel. We are called to find and see Jesus in everyone that we meet and to be willing to humble ourselves if necessary to serve and care for them. This is sometimes hard to do in today’s society. Why not seek out ways we can do this among the ministries right here in our own faith community?

Please contact us at Stewardship@AmericanMartyrs.org, with questions or comments about Stewardship.

ENCOUNTER LENT - A Story of Hope from Gaza

ENCOUNTER Ona

Ona always knew she wanted to be a “shining woman” in her community - and an example to her two young daughters. She studied hard and eventually earned her teaching degree from a university. But in Gaza, jobs are hard to find. Even though Ona had been a good student, she could not find work as a teacher.

“The financial situation was so difficult,” Ona says. “I started to feel hopeless.”

Dignity of Work and the Rights of Workers

Catholic social teaching inspires and guides how we are to live and work in the world. In this principle, Dignity of Work and Rights of Workers, we remember that Jesus spent years working as a carpenter. Work is important to help people fulfill their potential. And everyone must receive a fair wage to provide for themselves and their families.

Divine Mercy
Remember that having received mercy, we must show mercy to others.
We only receive and appropriate God’s mercy and the mercy of others when we extend that same mercy to others.
Mercy has to flow through us. If we don’t extend it to others we become self-indulgent and too harsh on others.
from The 10 Commandments of Mercy by Fr. Ronald Rolheiser, OMI

Divine Mercy literature is available in the vestibule of the church.

SAFEGUARD THE CHILDREN

Use creative problem solving to find new ways to protect children

In the Protecting God’s Children program, adults learn how to identify potential signs of abuse and how to pick up on red flag behaviors that indicate a potential predator, even before abuse happens. Another tool in the arsenal of child protection is creative problem solving, where adults learn to think outside the box when it comes to finding solutions for protecting children. One very effective creative problem-solving tool is to refocus the group’s thinking, turning it away from the perceived “problem” and productively move toward a collaborative solution. Consider the challenge of how to deal with registered sex offenders whose children attend the school or participate in religious education at the parish. Rather than discuss the topic, the leader might ask participants to finish the following sentences, “Wouldn’t it be awful if…” and “Wouldn’t it be wonderful if…” Once everyone has provided responses, the group can look through the answers to find connecting themes that may provide a previously untried solution.

For more information from the VIRTUS® article “Creative Problem Solving - How Can it Help?” visit: http://www.la-archdiocese.org/org/protecting/Pages/VIRTUS-Current-Online-Articles.aspx.
